

Abstract of the Disclosure

[0035] An electronic court docket includes embedded tables illustrating subsequent activity relating to docket entries. A method of analyzing the dockets and preparing the embedded tables includes identifying associated entries, preparing a table for each primary entry having associated entries, and inserting each table adjacent its primary entry.